Grass Burns.

Last week about 25 acres of grass was burned on the farm of B. F. Hudson near town. It was checked by the hard work of about 20 men.

$10.00 for best 1 dozen cars corn $2.00 for best hand to be brought to my office on or before Nov. 24, court day. Ed C. Gaines, the Insurance Man.

Memorial services were held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John E. Stormes by the members of the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, as a tribute to the late Mrs. Dorcas Walker a lamented and faithful member and the esteemed Vice President.

Rents Property.

Mr. Jack Adams has rented his house on Richmond street to Mr. W. P. Gregory, of Paint Lick, possession to be given January first.

If "Jack" hadn't run such a good race he wouldn't have to go to jail on New Years day.

Fox Hunters Meet.

The National Fox Hunter's Association is holding its annual meeting at Lawrenceburg this week, with a large crowd in attendance. Messrs. W. S. and Woods Walker, of upper Garrard, two of the best known fox hunters in the state accompanied by their visitor, Mr. Turner, of Mississippi, are in attendance. Mr. W. S. Walker took two dogs and Mr. Turner 5, which will be entered for some of the prizes and will doubtless carry away some of the honors.

Picture Show.

Mr. G. M. Patterson has his new building near completion, on Richmond street, where he with Mr. Sargent are entertaining immense crowds each evening with moving pictures. On last Saturday night they showed unusually good pictures and many people had to wait for the second and third performance in order to get standing room.

Let every one patronize the show, thereby forcing Mr. Patterson to enlarge his building and make an up-to-date opera house.

Send in your slogan for the Lancaster and Garrard County Development Association and try to win the $5.

Mrs. Mary Miller Frisbie is still up on the sick list, being a sufferer from tonsillitis.

Miss Biddle McClure the young daughter of Mrs. A. S. Price, of Stanford, was reported quite sick, but later information shows some improvement in her condition.

The report given our Paint Lick correspondent to the effect that Mr. Burdett Ramsey had purchased the Joe McCormack farm was an error, as a letter from Mr. Ramsey states that he never made an offer on it.

For Sale

As we have sold our home, we will offer our household furniture at private sale and rubber tire phaeton and harness good as new. I will also sell 4 interest in two closed carriages. 10-20 4t. Mrs. J. C. Hemphill.

The membership of the Lancaster and Garrard County Development Association is growing rapidly. We expect 200 members by the first meeting, which is Tuesday night, November 16th. This meeting will be held at 7 o'clock at the Odd Fellows Lodge rooms.

The members of the Mercer county bar presented Judge W. C. Bell with a handsome silver service at the close of his court in that county. This gift only went to express the high esteem in which he was held at his home. The Judge has many warm friends in Garrard who wish him much success in all he undertakes in the future.

Dairy Starts.

S. W. Moss started his dairy wagon on Tuesday, with several customers. He has purchased a wagon especially for this work and delivers milk once a day during the winter months, and in the summer twice a day except Sunday. Silas has lots of good cows and those who buy milk from him will have the satisfaction of knowing that it is clean and pure.

Collision.

Hon. R. H. Tomlinson was in a serious railroad wreck near Knoxville, on Monday night. He was returning from Asheville, North Carolina, where his daughter, Miss Margaret, has been for some time, and we are glad to report she is improved in health.

The train on which he traveled collided with a freight train, demolishing both engines, destroying three cars in front of him, killing two firemen, one engineer and wounding several others. Mr. Tomlinson was thrown across his coach, but was not injured.

Houses to be Erected.

One of Lancaster's best business men informs us that he is going to build several modern cottages with the conveniences of water and lights in each, in the early spring. Such cottages will be in demand both for sale and for rent. Many persons are anxious to move here but are kept away on account of scarcity of houses.

Let the good work go on. We should have twenty-five houses built in the city limits in the next twelve months.

Bob Whites Plentiful.

The outlook for quail hunting is good, provided we have some rains before next Monday, on which day hunting will begin. It was thought at first that the crop would be short, but reports show that a second hatch was made after the first was drowned by the spring rains. In this section many birds will not be large enough to kill for several weeks. Reports from many sections of the State, especially in the mountains and on the Virginia border line show that the quail crop is larger than for many years.

RELIGIOUS.

Elder F. M. Tindler is engaged in a series of meetings at Herring's school-house.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Kauffman.

The First Quarterly Communion of the church year for the Lancaster and McKendree Methodist congregations, will be held at McKendree church, Hubbell, Friday, November 26 and 27. Rev. D. W. Robertson will conduct the service, assisted by the past r.

Dr. Pearce will preach next Sunday the 21st at Hubbell at 11 A. M. and at Lancaster at eight.

John Stewart Kennedy, one of America's little known rich men, who died of whooping cough in his New York residence recently left bequests of more than $25,000,000 to religious, charitable and educational institutions in his will. The gift is the largest single contribution of its kind ever made and the beneficiaries include educational and church institutions North, South, East and West in the country and one abroad, six in all.

Dr. O. P. Phares, liberty, Ind., says: "I have tested Bourbon Hog Cholera Remedy in ten cases of cholera this fall and it has proven successful in all but one. It was not given according to instructions in the case in which it failed." Sold by J. R. Mount & Co.

Mr. Henry Riddleberger of Paint Lick, has taken rooms with Mrs. Edna Francis.

Tinsley Bros. sold their crop of tobacco to Milo Simpson for 164c per pound. This is the best price that has been paid in the county this year.

A Joyous Feast.

The banquet, given by the Adult Bible Class, of the Christian Church at the Kengarian, on Tuesday night, will be long remembered by those who were in attendance. The menu was perfect in every detail and appointment, the board fairly groaning under every luxury in and out of season. After partaking of the bountiful feast R. H. Batson acted as toast-master and the following gentlemen responded: J. H. McNeil, of Winchester, on "The Bible School for all the People," W. I. Williams, on "Education the Church Gives," and F. M. Tindler on "My Class."

In this combination the physical and spiritual man both feasted to their entire satisfaction.

The object of the banquet was to draw the class closer together and create more interest in the Sunday school work.

Publicity.

M. D. Hughes, chairman of the Publicity Committee for the Lancaster and Garrard Development Association, has named the following as members of his committee: Misses Ida and Lou Grant, Geo. Smith Jr., H. C. Hamilton, F. S. Hughes, Lancaster Ky., Miss Jennie Swope, Marksburg, Miss Mayme Ballard, Bryantville, W. H. Furr, Flat Woods, Miss Florence Christopher, Buena Vista, Miss Eliza Rucker, Paint Lick, Miss Katie Mae Dickerson, Buckeye.

Each member is requested to write an article, not to exceed 300 words, concerning the resources and advantages of their respective sections, which will be used in compiling statistics for advertising our city and county. Please mail to the chairman, who desires to get the population of Garrard county, the area, the amount of each crop raised this year, and the number of horses, mules, sheep, hogs and cattle shipped annually.

School Notes.

The school realized twenty eight dollars from the entertainment Monday night. This sum will be used for the grade libraries. We need seventy-five dollars more to make these libraries what they should be.

The teachers met Saturday morning for their study of school problems and some very interesting discussions were held. School sanitation was the topic under discussion. The more we study this subject the more are we convinced that effective class room work depends largely upon healthful and attractive surroundings.

Mrs. A. R. Price and Mrs. Johnson Price visited the school Monday morning.

The first quarter of school work closes this week. Examinations will be held on Thursday and Friday.

Miss Smith's room gave a very good literary program last Friday afternoon, about half the pupils in her room taking part.

The pupils of the High School will give a program every two weeks, the first to be on Wednesday afternoon before Thanksgiving. Mrs. Burnside's music pupils will assist at each second meeting.

Tobacco Notes.

As a result of the prolonged dry weather which has rendered tobacco in such a condition that it can not be handled, there was a decided falling off in the receipts on the Lexington loose leaf market last week as compared with the receipts of the preceding week.

Total receipts for the week ending Friday night were 305,295 pounds as compared with 510,555 pounds for the preceding week, which was a falling off of 205,260 pounds.

The general quality of the offerings for the week just closed were odds and ends and tail ends of crops and very little real good tobacco was seen on the market. The demand was strong on all grades and an advance of from $1 to $2 per 100 above the price quoted last week was made on several grades. There is a keen demand for color grades at fancy prices but the offerings of this class have been very limited.

The highest average price at any one house was $15.42, and a few good, but not fancy crops, averaged $17.00, $16.46, $16.25, $16.15, $15.80 and $15.40. Forty-seven thousand and five pounds were sold Nov. 9 at prices ranging from $8 to $20.50 a hundred. The average ranged close to the $13 mark, but as the grade offered was of the inferior sort the price was considered excellent.

FIVE DOLLARS IN GOLD.

The Lancaster and Garrard County Development Association, which was formed here this week, wants a slogan or battle cry which will help it win contests in the great commercial war now in progress between different communities for supremacy, and will give Five Dollars in Gold for the best suggestion sent to the President of the Association, John M. Farra, Lancaster on or before November 16th. The slogan should not be more than eight or ten words and should be especially expressive of Lancaster and Garrard County's interest or what both must stand for. This slogan is to be used in red ink on every piece of literature issued by the association and it is hoped that all merchants, bankers, professional men and citizens generally who have printed stationery will use the slogan on all of their envelopes and letter heads. The association has appointed R. E. Hughes, President Kentucky Electric Co., Louisville; Brinton B. Davis, President Commercial Club, Louisville; and A. B. Lipscomb, Secretary Commercial Club, Louisville as a committee to award the Five Dollars for the above named prize.

For convenience, the following blank may be used. Fill it out and mail it to John M. Farra, Lancaster.

I respectfully suggest the following as an appropriate slogan for the Lancaster and Garrard County Development Association:

The proposition to make agriculture a regular branch in State Normal Schools will meet the hearty approval of every progressive man. All our wealth comes out of the earth and more study is necessary to get the best results in farming than any of so called professions, with their volumes of rules and commentaries. The fact is, it requires more intelligence to be a successful farmer than it does to be a lawyer or physician, and the vocation is highly honorable and praiseworthy. We quote from James J. Hill, in the World's Work:

"If I could have my way I should build a couple of warships a year less. Perhaps one would do. I would take that $5,000,000 or $5,000,000 a year and start at least one thousand agricultural schools in the United States at $5,000 a year each, in the shape of model farms. This model farm would be simply a tract of land conforming in size, soil, treatment, crop selection and rotation and methods of cultivation to modern agricultural methods. Its purpose would be to furnish to all its neighborhood a working model for common instruction. Cultivating, perhaps, from forty to sixty acres, it could exhibit on that area the advantages of thorough tillage which the small farm makes possible; of seed specially chosen and tested by experiment at agricultural college farms; of proper fertilization, stock raising, utilization of crops and the whole scientific and improved system of cultivation, seedling, harvesting and marketing. The farmers of a county could see, must see, as they passed its borders, how their daily labors might bring increased and improved results. The example could not fail to impress itself upon an industry becoming each year more conscious of its defects and its needs. As fast as it was followed, it would improve farm conditions, make this a form of enterprise more attractive to the young and the intelligent, and add enormously to the volume of farm products which constitutes our enduring national wealth."

The impression among some that the vote of the colored man is an asset, in the hands of the republican party, is not believed by everybody. This would be a slavery more galling than that from which they were released. They are beginning to think for themselves and the more they become enlightened on the principles advocated by the democratic party the more they will vote with that party, as many did in the recent election. They are also learning that most of the employment given them is by democrats and when in want of distress they are generally relieved by democrats. They should also remember that we would not have them back in slavery, and that the democrats helped to make the Federal army strong enough to subdue the South and gain their freedom.

Returns show that the Democratic landslide is unprecedented in the history of Kentucky politics. The Republicans lost many counties and districts that were never known to fall them. The largest Democratic gains came from the mountain section of the State. The Republicans elected only one State Senator. They succeeded in defeating the Democratic nominee in the Campbell county district. The Democrats elected E. Bertram for the Senate in the Sixteenth district, which has heretofore had a Republican majority of nearly 3,000. The next State Senate will stand twenty-six Democrats to twelve Republicans. The House of Representatives, according to incomplete returns, shows seventy-six Democrats and twenty-four Republicans were elected.

Republican leaders are denouncing the tariff bill and its effect was felt, on the second, not only here but in Massachusetts, the home of vast manufacturing interests and a republican stronghold, where Governor Draper was elected by only 5,000, although the State went 60,000 republican in 1907. This shows which way the wind blows, and if we will stick to this text, and not go off on some side issue that will lead the people from the vital question, the greatest victory, in the history of the nation, will be won in 1912. Less extravagance, other sources of revenue and less burdens, on the masses, should be our slogan.

The signal victory of the democrats tells, in thunder tones, that the party is united and that the people are realizing that the Payne tariff bill was passed in the interest of the manufacturers, and that it imposes a burden on the masses by increasing the cost of clothing and provisions. Kentucky has been redeemed, some of the republican strongholds have surrendered to the cause of justice, republican counties and cities have enlisted under our banner, nineteen Senators were elected, and all are Democrats. The expression of Lincoln, about forcing the people all the time, applies in this case. If we keep the issues before the people we will have smooth sailing in the next State and National elections.

Hon. Sam Shackelford, Coroner-elect, will, on Saturday, January 1, 1910, proceed to hold an inquest upon the remains of the Republican party in Mercer county, if any there be, and the following gentlemen are cited to appear at said time and testify as witnesses: George Robinson, William Herndon, Thos. M. Caldwell, W. N. Brown, Jr., Frank Carey, S. G. Foster, Granville Preston, and Chas. W. Bell. The object and purpose of said inquest is declared to be to ascertain, if possible, of what ailment, derangement or disarrangement said Republican party did die, and whether of internal dissension; general dissipation or just plain "discombobulation."—Harrodsburg Herald.

We said that we would win if we got a fair count, which we did, and the result is overwhelmingly in our favor. It would have been one hundred votes larger, in some cases, if the election commissioners had corrected a plain clerical error, which they could have done, but they would not go behind the returns, and they did right.

After the election some democrats remarked in the presence of Judge E. W. Harris, a republican, who was elected Police Judge, that he was the only nest egg the republicans had left, whereupon one of the party said "If the egg hatches it will be a goose."

Capt. Tom Austin, an old Union soldier, says that he chased Judge M. C. Sautley so closely in the Ohio raid in 1863, that the Judge was forced to leave a biscuit, which a lady was handling him on a plate, and yet they fought together in the last political campaign.

The progressive republicans will make it hot for the "standpatters," when congress convenes, in reference to any attempt to curb anti-trust laws or weaken the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The citizens of this section will deeply regret to hear of the death of Hon. G. G. Gilbert, who so ably represented this district in Congress four terms. He was a brilliant lawyer, a profound statesman and a polished gentleman.

Did we hear someone say that the new City Council was going to order concrete walks put down on the Public Square first? That is the place to begin and then have them extended out each street.

The re-districting commission, appointed by Governor Wilson will likely disband, as we have a legislature that will attend to that matter, and, being democratic, it will do justice to all sections.

The Frankfort correspondent to the Cincinnati Enquirer nominates Judge M. C. Sautley for the next governor of Kentucky. We join the Interior Journal in seconding the nomination.

Judge M. C. Sautley's majority in the district composed of Lincoln, Garrard, Boyle and Mercer is 1,931. Capt. Herndon moved that it be made unanimous.—Interior Journal.

Hats off to C. A. Arnold, democratic campaign chairman, and many other good workers.

Capt. Herndon said "I'll bet that Judge Sautley doesn't bother me any more."

Several reputable gentlemen who were at the polls and who are acquainted with the conditions, assert positively that a clerical error occurred at East Bryantsville, giving W. S. Carrier, Jack Adams and Miss Jennie Higgins 100 votes less than they actually received. The Election Commission would not go behind the returns. We had enough without it, so what's the use worrying?

The Best Food for Workers.

The best food for those who work with hand or brain is never high priced.

The best example of this is found in Quaker Oats. It stands at the top among foods that supply nourishment and vigor, without taxing the digestion, and yet it is the least expensive food one can eat.

This great food value and low cost make it an ideal food for families who want to get the greatest good from what they eat.

Laborers, factory or farm hands, fed plentifully of Quaker Oats will work better and with less fatigue than if fed on almost any other kind of food. All of these facts were proved and very interesting information about human foods were gathered by Professor Fisher of Yale University in 1908. In addition to the regular package Quaker Oats is packed in large sized family packages either with or without china dishes.

If telling the truth and relating facts injures a man financially and socially let him be for ever poverty stricken, and friendless and his conscience will abundantly repay him.

The wedding bells will precede the Christmas bells by a small margin in this community. Now see if they don't.

Miss Blanche Stotts was the pleasant guest of Miss Albertie Moberly, of Madison, last Sunday.

While a young man in this vicinity was sitting comfortably enjoying the favor of a "three-for" one evening recently, two handsome young ladies were discussing what was most essential in winning a husband, a conversationalist or a beauty. After arguing pro and con for quite a bit they asked the young feller his opinion. Well, said he, you have both made eloquent and logical points but the surest and easiest way to get a husband, to my notion, is to find a man with out any brains. The handsome young ladies smiled sarcastically and left him in solitude to finish his smoke.

The stork has again been visiting in our village making noisy and happy homes. Sam Wille and Fred Howard are the fathers of a boy and girl respectively. They each step higher, longer and with more elasticity, smiling broadly.

Blanche Stotts is expecting as her guest, Miss Beatrice Stotts, an accomplished young lady of Little Hickman.

W. H. Ray recently bought some corn from Printes Walker at $2.50 per barrel.

Mrs. Sam Moberly and handsome daughter, Albertie, were visiting Mrs. William Stotts, last week.

William Stotts bought twenty barrels of corn from James Wills for $2.50 per barrel.

Women Agree.

Out in a small western town there are a lot of pretty and clever girls banded together under the name of the Marriageable Ladies' League who are perfectly aware, says Dorothy Dix, in the New York Evening Journal, that it takes a great many desirable qualifications to make a man an agreeable husband and the chief of these is intelligence. Hence, at the meeting of the league last week, the following resolution was passed by a unanimous vote:

"Be it resolved, that we, the members of the Marriageable Ladies' League, do hereby agree not to marry any man who is not a patron of his home newspaper, for it is strong evidence of his want of intelligence, and that he will be too stingy to provide for his family, or to educate his children, or to support institutions of learning in the community."

These girls don't beat about the bush. They go right at it and face the fact that the man who is dull and ignorant and unprogressive in his youth is not going to be a Solomon in middle life, or a sage in his old age.

They realize that the man who does not read the newspaper is the dolt who gets taken in by confidence men, and who invests the family savings in gold bricks and comes whining home to be comforted for his stupidity by his wife. He is a man to be avoided by every girl who does not feel that she has a sacred call to run an asylum for incurable imbeciles, and this is the kind of man that the Marriageable Ladies' League resolves to sidestep.

The idea is a good one to pass along. Any girl may take it as a safe tip that the man who is too close-listed to take a newspaper and too utterly stupid to read one, is the kind of a man that is going to bore her to death.

But the main point is that both husband and wife are interested in the things in the papers. They can talk about the same murder trials, and divorces, and financial scandals, and politics that are interesting the public at the moment, and of such gossipers fibers are the unbreakable chains of love and sympathy forged.

The real test of perfect amity and understanding between them, a married couple is when they split the newspaper between them. The Dove of Peace has taken up his permanent roosting place in their household.—Harrodsburg Republican.

Come now let us reason together. Be considerate and charitable to your Flour Mills. Did you know if the mills had not bought your wheat this year and you had had your wheat shipped to any market outside of your mills anywhere in Kentucky three fourths of it would have been rejected. We have bought largely the majority of your wheat and by considerable expense by adding extra cleaners and lots of hard work by handling and re-handling, cleaning and re-cleaning we get the wheat in pretty good shape at a loss of one-fifth of the wheat. All of the impurities are taken out of the wheat and the flower from any of your mills is as pure as is possible to make it. But remember the wheat is still not as good as we generally have in our grand old State of Kentucky. Then remember the Government made us stop bleaching flour, you will still get good pure flour but not so white, and owing to the continued dampness will not be quite so lively. Any good standard mill can make just as good flour as the other mill, so stick to your home mills and you will make no mistake. Burnam & Rucker.

The total sales of leaf tobacco on the Louisville market from January 1st to October 31st 1909, were 71,850 bbls., against 93,902 bbls. sold during corresponding period of last year. The rejections this year were 7,157.

The entire tobacco crop this year of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia is estimated at 236,000,000 pounds. Of course Kentucky raised the bulk of this amount.

Clark county tobacco growers filed suit against the Burley Tobacco Society, asking an accounting of the money received and disbursed, and also asking the appointment of a receiver.

The hay crop of the United States this year is estimated at nearly 1,000,000 tons less than that of last year, and the quality is reported as not so good owing to the prevalence of wet weather in early summer. It is predicted that good hay will command a good price during the coming winter.

The preliminary estimate of the average yield of an acre of tobacco is 807.7 pounds against 802.2 pounds as finally estimated in 1908. A total production of 895,184,635 pounds is thus indicated against 718,061,000 pounds as finally estimated in 1908. The quality is 86.7 per cent. against 87.3 per cent. in 1908.

The crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture in a preliminary report gives the indicated total production of corn for 1909 as 2,767,316,000 bushels against 2,668,651,000 as finally estimated last year, with the quality as 84.2 per cent. as against 86.9 last year.

Eight new counties were represented last week at the meeting of the District Board of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Company which met in the convention room of the Phoenix Hotel at Lexington. All of the members of the board were in their places when the meeting was called to order by Secretary Brooks. The new counties are: Kentucky—Green, Hardin, Made Garrard; Indiana—Ohio, Surry, Dearborn; Ohio—Scioto.

The directors of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Company took up the question of preparing the 1909 crop of pooled tobacco for market, and it was decided that the new company should handle the crop directly through its own employees. Reports received from all counties of the district are that 50 per cent. of the unpooled tobacco in the Burley district has already been marketed.

To Dealers in Cattle.

For grazing and feeding cattle call on or place your orders with S. A. Cooper Commission Co., Kansas City Stock Yards. A careful selection for what you want will be made by W. O. Park who has had 27 years experience in handling orders on this market. Please address all communications to W. O. Park, Kansas City Stock Yards, 10-1-101.

At a session of the district board of the Burley tobacco and Insurance Company it was decided the loss in value from shrinkage between summer and winter tobacco should be fixed at $1 per 100 pounds. The same system of grading and the same number of grades as in the 1906-1907 pool will be used. On motion of President Clarence LeBus a resolution was adopted that the banks of Lexington be authorized by the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Company to loan to farmers one-half of the graded value of their tobacco, as indicated on warehouse receipts.

The hog crop is admittedly small. Government estimates place the shortage around 11 per cent. for the entire country and 15 to 17 per cent. in the rain hog producing States. Market experts generally consider that the corn belt will have about 25 per cent. less hogs to sell this year than last, says Breeders' Gazette.

Receipts so far this year have been running far behind, with a shortage so far, at the six principal western markets, of 1,879,000 head, or 121 per cent. compared with the same months last year. With the high prices that have prevailed for live hogs, consumption has been cut in a measure, but still there is only a very meager supply of the hog product in store.

BAKER'S SCHOOL HOUSE.

Bakers School House must have one more "inning" before we leave here.

Last week the farmers had dry but typical weather to vote and gather malts.

We just heard of one baby biting off the end of another baby's nose over on

Pond Creek in Jackson county. From what we could learn the mother of one had taught her teething young one to bite everything it could seize in its mouth, so it got hold of another of its size right inside of an old country church in time of Divine Services and nipped one corner of its nose.

Cartersville celebrated the Democratic victor by shooting anvils and loud hurrahs. Your correspondent could not rejoice with them as he is a cross-road pedagogue in a strong republican district, so he went contemplating alone, save his dog Jack, and his patrons claim that he did a heap of howling not to get any game.

We'll, the struggle is over and all did all that all could for all parties. Now comes the drouth and close application to business. The victorious have

JUST ABOUT JOKES

TOMMY LEARNS A FEW THINGS FROM HIS FATHER.

Old Gentleman Has Much to Say on the Subject and Some of It Seems to Be Exceedingly Pertinent.

"There's one thing I thought I knew but find I don't know," said Tommy.

"What is a joke?" Father pricked up his ears, as it were. "A joke," he said slowly, "is something his maker thinks is funny, but nobody else does."

"That explains it then. To-day I said an awful quaint thing. Mother had a lot of women here and they talked about clothes. I said, 'A woman's mind is always on clothes. When she ain't talking through her hat she's laughing up her sleeve.' But no one laughed, and I read that one, too. Tell me a joke."

"If I were to say when I came home from visiting the cemetery that I had returned from the dead, that would be a joke."

"Is that a practical joke?"

"It is not; it's a grave joke."

"What is a practical joke?"

"If your mother, just before going out shopping, asked for money and I gave her all she wanted."

"Do you like practical jokes?"

"Not when they're as practical as that."

"Does every one like jokes?"

"Few people do. Most people think it is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Then people can't take a joke?"

"There are some who can't. Editors, for instance, rarely take a joke."

"Does any one make money from the writing of jokes?"

"Only the paper makers and the postal department of the government."

"Must a joke be funny to be a joke?"

"Few are."

"Then some are serious?"

"Not exactly. But if you refer to a sexton as a man of grave cares some might think you intended to be facetious."

"Is a pun like a joke?"

"Nothing at all. A man who makes a joke is an idiot; whereas a man who makes a pun is a criminal."

"Then the man who writes what he thinks are jokes is a funny fellow?"

"No; it is serious business with him."

"He has his ups and downs, then?"

"Yes; he gets up courage to write to editors and gets turned down by them."

"You're not referring to the man who writes the column in the papers every day? Surely life is one joke with him."

"No it isn't. He thinks he's a humorist, but he's a pessimist."

"Isn't joke writing healthy?"

"Not when you're caught at it."

"Can a man write jokes and still be a gentleman?"

"You forget, Tommy, that our remarks are intended for publication and that I have many friends who write. Besides, I sometimes get off a joke or two myself."

Boston Police Wit.

Seldom do we find wit among the police lieutenants of this city, but one in a South end station may be in a class with George Ade, says the Boston Journal. Recently a newly-made patrolman, doing his route along the common, discovered the frog pond to be overflowing.

It seems that those in charge had neglected to shut off the inlet and as a result the water trickled over the edges. Thinking that the matter should be brought to the attention of his superior officer, the rookie called the desk from his next signal box. The conversation ran somewhat like this:

"Lieutenant, the frog pond is overflowing."

"Ball it out with your hat," replied the lieutenant, closing the incident.

Disappointed, indeed.

In Jamaica it is the rage among tourists from England to get butterfly hunting.

In a great variety of flannel costumes these subjects of Edward VII. go carousing about in the fields armed with green nets to the great amusement of Americans.

Not long ago one of the most ardent of them, after a most exciting chase, bagged an insect. He gazed at it for a moment, then, turning away with a look of the most intense disgust, he addressed the gathering on the hotel veranda with these words:

"Oh, I say, 'tis but an immature cricket!"

Comic Dignity.

Senator La Follette, criticizing a trust, said:

"Its dignity under abuse and attack is, somehow, funny. It reminds me of a little Sioux city girl."

"One morning she hum about the kitchen continually, bothering the busy cook to death."

"The cook lost patience finally."

"Clear out o' here, ye sassy little brat!" she shouted, thumping the table with a rolling pin.

"The little girl gave the cook a naughty look."

"I never allow any one but my mother to speak to me like that," she said.

Sane.

Shakespeare was asked if Hamlet was sane.

"Certainly," he cried, "he only sees ghosts, not scareships."

Herewith he established the test.

SCARED THE GUEST

THOUGHT BEDCHAMBER WAS FULL OF FROGS.

But It Was Only the Result of His Host Being Seized with the Desire to Raise His Own Chickens.

To keep hens, it has been said, is at one time or another the ambition of every American boy. It is not always realized, but when it is, the comfort, and the constant "tussing" are most satisfactory. Archibald Whitehouse recently started in the business of raising chickens, and as his wife has a sense of humor, the neighbors are frequently entertained with amusing anecdotes.

"You remember that cold week we had about the middle of March?" Mrs. Whitehouse asked a caller one afternoon.

"Indeed I do! Just after the thaw—our gutter froze and split all down the east side of the house. It was cold weather!"

"Well," continued her hostess, "Archibald brought home three dozen chicks that week. Humphrey Jones had hatched them for him, and Archibald was going to develop them, as he calls it, in the brooder. As the weather was so terrific, he thought best to put the brooder indoors, instead of in the hen-house, because the young chicks are so very tender."

"Indeed they are," asserted her caller.

"Well, he set it in the guest room, which was moderately warm, and everything went along finely. Toward the end of the week my brother Tom dropped in late one evening in that blinding snowstorm. He and Archie had to talk over some business quite a while, and it ended with his staying all night, instead of plowing back to his room. We put him in the guest room, and totally forgot to say a word about the brooder."

Her caller began to laugh. "I can imagine a good many things," she said. "What actually did happen?"

"Why," said Mrs. Whitehouse, "everything was all right for an hour or two. But at last there was a tremendous yelling of 'Archie! Archie!' from his room."

"Archie went in, and Tom asked him: 'Am I dreaming or am I mad? Seems to me I hear a lot of young frogs chirping all around the room. I don't dare get up for fear of squashing them. Do you keep frogs, Archie?'"

"It turned out that, being very tired, he had gone to bed without lighting the light, and in the dark he had opened the brooder to put something in, thinking that it was a dresser. Later some of the chickens tumbled out and began crying. I suppose they did sound like frogs."

"I hope you told him," remarked her friend. "That way, he'd understand why women are so scared of mice."

Youth's Companion.

How She Knew.

"I do think," exclaimed Mrs. Tolker, indignantly, "that Mrs. Gadabout is the most aggravatingly inquisitive woman, if I must say so, I ever knew. Why, I never pass her on the street but what she invariably turns her head and stares at me to see what I've got on and how it sets from behind."

"How—er—, that is, I was wondering, my dear, how you found out that the mean thing looked back. Some one tell you?" inquired Mr. Tolker, innocently.

And Mrs. Tolker straightway turned the stream of her indignation seething hot from Mrs. Gadabout to her "mean, fawning wretch of a husband," as she fondly termed him, and after the first pyrotechnic outburst steadily refused to speak to the fortunate man for the rest of the evening.

Making Sure of It.

The colored janitor of the flat next door approached the grocer and handed him a paper containing some white powder.

"What's this?" he asked, "what you 'ink dat is?"

"Jes' taste it an' tell me you 'pinion."

The grocer smelled it, then touched it to his tongue.

"Well, Jake, I should say that was soda."

"Dat's jest what I say," replied the janitor, triumphantly. "I say dat's soda, but my woman, she 'low it's rat pizen; she says she knows 'tis 'Jes' taste it again, boss, fo' to make sure."—National Food Magazine.

Dr. Glynn Not Reciprocal.

Turn about is fair play, as was discovered not long ago by Dr. Carr Glynn, the bishop of Peterborough, England. He is an enthusiastic motorist as well as an enthusiastic prohibitionist. One day he was out in his car, and the chauffeur ran out of gasoline. They went to a public house for some more and the owner came out. Seeing the episcopal dress of the bishop, he said: "Yes, I have got plenty of gasoline, but I don't sell it to the likes of them that never buys my beer."

Scenes of Childhood.

The Old Oaken Bucket dripped a few tears.

"I don't arouse the enthusiasm of the home plate!" it complained.

Herewith began the rivalry between the scenes of childhood.
